1. The report is expected to include specific comment, among other matters on:
  - (a) the adequacy of the research design
  - (b) the execution of the Project
  - (c) the candidate's knowledge and use of existing literature on the subject
  - (d) the specific nature of the contribution which the thesis/dissertation makes to knowledge in the discipline
  - (e) the literary and or/technical presentation of the thesis/dissertation (graphs, photographs etc.)

2. The Examiner is also requested to submit notes and comments on the following matters:
  - (a) details of any deficiencies, errors, gaps or other matter which require attending to before the thesis/dissertation can be presented for examination;
  - (b) details of questions of interpretation or phrasing or analysis which the candidate will be expected to carry out to the satisfaction of the examiners;
  - (c) details of other minor matters for correction such as typographical and spelling errors, etc.; before the thesis/dissertation is deposited with the Library.

University Regulations provide that "without" prejudice to the result of examination as a whole, an oral examination will only be conducted if in the view of the examiners, the thesis/dissertation has sufficient merit. The Examiner is therefore requested to indicate his option by incorporating one of these two statements in the report:

- (i) the thesis/dissertation has sufficient merit;
- (ii) the thesis/dissertation does not have sufficient merit in its present form.

An oral examination cannot be held for the candidate until the examiners are satisfied that the thesis/dissertation has merit. Your conclusion in this report should be consistent with the main findings of the body of your report.
